

Índice

Editorial

Our Voice
Silvia Núñez García

Politics

Interview with Arturo Sarukhán,
Mexican Ambassador to the United States
Leonardo Curzio

Mexico and the International
Environmental Agenda
María Cristina Rosas

Economy

China's Impact on Mexican,
Canadian and U.S. Trade
The Beginning of NAFTA's Decline?
Enrique Pino Hidalgo

North American Issues

Eating Patterns in Mexican and U.S.
Marginalized Groups in the 1940s
Bernardo Olmedo Carranza

100 Years of History

From Independence
To the Revolution
Six Views from the Present

New Spain and Independence
Alfredo Ávila

Independent, Inexperienced and Disorganized
Political Life in Mexico (1821-1855)
María del Carmen Vázquez Mantecón

The Significance of the Reform Period
(1855-1862)
Silvestre Villegas Revueltas

"When We Were an Empire"
The Monarchical Experiment in Mexico
(1864-1867)
Érika Pani

From the Restoration of the Republic to the Dictatorship of a Single Man (1867-1910)
Evelia Trejo

The Mexican Revolution (1910-1917)
Álvaro Matute

Art and Culture

Film and the Mexican Revolution
David M. J. Wood

An Homage to Carlos Monsiváis

Mexico since September 11, 2001
Carlos Monsiváis

Carlos Monsiváis as Testimonialist
Claire Joysmith

Carlos Monsiváis
Catechizing Mephistopheles
Adolfo Castañón

Nostalgia for Monsiváis
Jezreel Salazar

Special Section

The Cascading Effects of Arizona's sb 1070

The Cascading Effects of Arizona's sb 1070
An Overview
Erik Lee

The Immigration Debate about Mexicans
Jaime R. Aguila

Obama and the Anti-Mexican sb 1070
Mónica Vereá

Human Rights and the Fetishization of sb 1070
Ariadna Estévez López

Arizona's New Anti-immigrant Law and Federal Immigration Reform
Doris Marie Provine

The United States v. Arizona
The Power Struggle Over Setting
Immigration Enforcement Priorities
Evelyn Cruz

Arizona's Law: The Wrong Strategy
Paz Consuelo Márquez-Padilla

On the Labyrinths of sb 1070
Silvia Núñez García

Concluding Thoughts
D. Rick van Schoik

Literature

Liliana Valenzuela, a Contemporary Malinche: On Being a Bilingual and Bicultural Creative Scribe
Interview by Claire Joysmith

Nov. 2, 1998:
On the Eve of Becoming an American Citizen
A Poem by Liliana Valenzuela

Reviews

Celebrating Mexico's History
Arturo Cosme Valadez