

INTER- COONECTA LEARNING SHARING TRANS- FORMING.

Knowledge is an unlimited resource that we can use to change the world around us. We generate it, leverage it, and share it through mutual learning. And we apply it in our work to help build a more prosperous, inclusive, and sustainable society.

PURPOSES AND PARTNER- SHIPS.

INTERCOONECTA carries out its activities in a series of thematic areas of primary interest for Latin America and the Caribbean and, in this context, knowledge is applied towards ➤

Strengthening our institutions and safeguarding human rights.

Protecting the environment and combating climate change.

Fostering social cohesion, gender equality, and diversity.

Promoting the rights of indigenous peoples and people of African descent.

Guaranteeing access to sustainable water and sanitation services.

Supporting the region's economic, technological, and cultural development.

2030 AGENDA

17 GOALS TO TRANS- FORM OUR WORLD.

The SDGs (Sustainable Development Goals) serve as a guideline for our activities: eradicating poverty, protecting our environment, and ensuring prosperity for all through public policies that help implement the 2030 Sustainable Development Agenda for Latin America and the Caribbean. If we share this challenge and confront it together, it will be easier to overcome.

TRAINING CENTERS PLACES TO MEET, RE- FLECT, AND EXCHANGE.

Some places are critical to promoting knowledge. These are spaces that stimulate learning and the sharing of experiences; where ideas are analyzed, debated, and formulated to promote our goals. These places make up the Network of Spanish Cooperation Training Centers in Latin America and the Caribbean, units specialized in knowledge management, located in strategic points in the region.

A SOLID NETWORK OF CENTERS
TO PROMOTE KNOWLEDGE IN LATIN AMERICA AND
THE CARIBBEAN

ACTION LINES: KNOWLEDGE AT WORK.

Applying knowledge requires a series of actions geared towards achieving development outcomes. That is how we transform what we have learned into concrete actions to make the world a better place:

Specialized technical training and capacity-building for public servants.

Through training activities, public service professionals in Latin America and the Caribbean can gather knowledge and share it with their organizations. From there, they can launch and/or improve public policies that have a positive impact on society.

Communities of Experts and Institutional Networks.

These networks support knowledge exchange about specific subject areas. On the one hand, we have virtual communities of experts composed of specialists and professionals from Latin America and the Caribbean. These communities share the common objective of consolidating relationships and generating knowledge in order to share it effectively. On the other hand, we provide ongoing support to the institutional networks that play a vital role in facilitating dialogue in the region and promoting collective action between different countries.

Knowledge for Development Projects (KDP).

These are projects at the regional or sub-regional level that focus on the effective application of knowledge on behalf of partner countries. The approach is multifaceted and flexible, and each project addresses specific thematic areas that may include anything from capacity-building actions to applied research studies or proposals that impact positively on public policy.

Actions to support knowledge management and achieve the Spanish Cooperation Agency's regional objectives in Latin America and the Caribbean.

These actions may include designing activities that complement the activities already contemplated in AECID programs; providing physical and virtual spaces for INTERCOONECTA to carry out its activities, or standardizing the knowledge-based products generated and making it available to society through our distribution channels.

WHEN KNOWLEDGE IS APPLIED,
IT BECOMES A POWERFUL
RESOURCE THAT HAS THE CAPACITY TO TRANSFORM
THE SOCIETY WE LIVE IN.

VIRTUAL

WE MAKE OPEN
AND ACCESSIBLE
KNOWLEDGE POSSIBLE

INTERCOONECTA aims to turn knowledge into an accessible resource. To this end, it is equipped with the necessary tools to systematize information and facilitate the transfer and generation of new knowledge. These tools are part of the Virtual Knowledge Center.

INTER- COONECTA LEARNING | SHARING | TRANS- FORMING.

We can change a lot of things through knowledge.
And so, our aim is to generate, share and use knowledge as a global asset, bit by bit making our world a better place every day.
